Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

This three-bay framed and weatherboarded I-house faces west onto Solomons Island Road. Set on brick piers, the house has six-over-six double-hung-sash windows and a front-facing gable centered in the gable roof. The one-story hipped-roof porch is supported on plain wooden posts. There is an original two-story two-bay rear ell and a two-story two-bay extension added onto that. The north side of the ells is sheltered by a shed-roofed porch. All chimneys and stove flues have been removed. This house, now used as a shop, dates from the turn of the century.
